We deeply sympathise with Fort Worth in the loss of her charming palace. It was a thing of rare beauty and to Texas her without redress. a thing of rare beauty and to Texas her cinef exponent of internal resources. There is no true Texan but regrets that confiagration. Yet, to me, it resembles the angry expression of an insulted Pravidence. Fort Worth has sustained a reputation above any other city in Texas as a Christian city. Her hospitality to all Christian people in the past is unexcelled. She will entertain anything. The towering spires of magnificent church houses, costing $50,000, more fully attest her appropriation of that which is good and right. Christian people are proud of Fort Worth, But, in the face of this reputation and just following the scathing rebukes of the so-cial dance as administered by Dixon The bill exempting newspaper men from jury service passed by the New York legislature, has become a law, Yet those who are charged with offenses against the public welfare will probably continue to complain against trial by the revel was to begin like. The Atchison Champion gives a new "reason" for its opposition to Ingalls. I says that while John A. Martin wa always a friend of Ingalls, and supported him heartily. Ingails was never a sincer ne belsays that he discovered this twent years ago. This is equal to the o woman in Connecticut, who was o day found believing fit to kill. Up being asked what was the matter, she said she was crying for her poor little she couldn't stand it any longer!

From the Kansas Chief.

There were some good points about th recently. The red-hot grants did no have it all their own way. Several fin speeches were made, and, strangest of all, $50,000 was subscribed roward the Grant measurement. This ought to mak New York ashamed. The worth, comparatively poor, on the occusion of the ledication of a monument to her leader monument to the morthern bader that the wealthy raty of New York has permitted to languish for want of funds. But, to tell the truth about it, there is more localty in Virginia, and of a botter quality, than in the city of New York,

Good Susiness Suggestion. From the Larmy Republican.

Kansas gram is shipped to Kansas City or St. Louis, whence it is shipped back again across the state that ruled it, to Arizona, and other non-agricultural re gions to the west of us. Is is wise to pay all this extra freightage, rather than to take the trouble to inspect and grade it in our own state? Let Kinses third of it. Those western markets are our naturally. They should be ours resident tion. They certainly should be ours with Kansas City brand on Kansas products. Let Kansas get her business eye open and take steps at once to have matter as they should be in this direction.
